

Turks and Caicos Islands Government Officially Opens London Office

The Turks and Caicos Islands Government (TCIG) re-opened its London Office in September 2015. The TCIG London Office will be the primary interface between the Government of the Turks and Caicos Islands and Her Majesty's Government in the UK.

Under the direction of the Office of the Premier, the office is headed by Tracy Knight with Mr Kimo Tynes serving as Consular Officer supporting TCI nationals residing in the UK.

"We are confident that Tracy and Kimo will represent the TCI well while performing their respective duties overseas," said Deputy Governor Anya Williams on the opening of the Office.

"The exposure and experience they will gain while living and working in UK represents a tremendous development opportunity, both for them and their country. TCIG intends to continue to build on this existing office and strengthen it through providing more talented resources like these new hires."

"This is another proud moment for us as Turks and Caicos Islanders as the Government continues to deliver on our promise to employ our people within the Civil Service," said Premier, Dr. The Hon. Rufus W. Ewing.
